Baby dogs are called puppies. Dogs give birth to lots of puppies in what is called a litter. When they are born, they are looked after by their mummy, who gives them milk to drink.

How do I keep my dog healthy?

Dogs need to run and play to stay healthy. They also need to go for walks every day and eat the right foods.

Remember!

Owning and caring for a dog is a big responsibility.

Taking Care of a Dog

Dogs are a very popular pet to have. It is estimated that there are over 8 million in the United Kingdom. Dogs can be great pets if they are cared for correctly. They love attention and to play and be stroked. Also, they like to be with people and look forward to seeing you.

What Does a Dog Look Like?

Dogs vary in size. Some are big like a Great Dane and some can be very small like a Yorkshire terrier. When dogs are happy, they can be seen wagging their tails. When they are hot, they often pant and stick out their tongue to cool down.

What Does a Dog Need?

Owning a dog is extremely rewarding and can be fun but it is also a big responsibility. Dogs need to be fed the right kinds of food and must avoid others such as chocolate, which would make them ill. Owners must also ensure their dog has a comfortable place to sleep. Exercise is vital to help dogs stay healthy and daily walks are essential. Always ensure your dog stays safe by keeping them on a lead in public places.

What Are Baby Dogs Called?

Baby dogs are called puppies and they are born in a litter. This means that three, four or more puppies are born at one time. From birth, they drink milk from their mum. They have to be about four weeks old before they start to eat solid food.

Puppies cannot see or hear very well when they are first born.
